

Halloween 2013

Creatures of all shapes and forms descended upon the Jockey Club Government School Hall on 24th October (it was a week early because all of the “undead” had to study for their exams during the next week).

There were ghouls and ghosts, devils and demons, pirates and pumpkins – there was even (though very briefly) a real live Egyptian Mummy who joined in the festivities for a short period of time.

Students were able to try and complete Halloween themed tongue-twisters in exchange for some sweet treats, or get some makeup done to make them look really scary (or silly). There were a range of different costumes for students to try on and once in dress, they could have their photo taken with a spooky background.

There was a lot of energy floating around the hall that lunchtime, and it was great to watch students and staff having a bit of fun and being a bit silly together – one or two might even say they got a fright once or twice!

Our English teachers in costumes.

spooky Halloween crossword puzzle!