

Q2 Learning English through Sports Communication

You are a member of your school's dance team. Your team has been invited to perform in a TV charity show. Write a letter to your sister Jackie in Canada about your experience in the show. In your letter, describe what the dance team was asked to do, how you prepared for the performance, and what happened on that day. Sign your name 'Chris Wong'.

Dear Jackie,

Hi, Jackie, long time no see! I am Chris. Do you still remember I am a member of my school's dance team? I don't know whether you have heard about us since you moved to Canada. I remember we always danced together when we were young. I know you gave up your dance life, but I haven't. I remember you said that we should concentrate on our studies. That's why you moved to Canada. But I can't sacrifice my dream. I tried my best to improve my exam results without quitting the dance team.

Recently, we won a competition called "Senior Dance Battle". Soon a broadcasting company asked us to join a TV charity dance show. It is about the development of HK's local dance culture and how to become famous local dancers. They wanted to have an interview with us and a dance performance by us. When we heard we could appear in a TV show, we all jumped at the chance, because it is the first time we have an opportunity to appear before the public on TV. We were nervous and didn't know what we should do to prepare ourselves. To prepare us for the show, we increased our practice to five days a week. We hoped we could show our best talent and shine before the eyes of the audience.

Finally the day came and we were all very excited. We have never stepped on such a big dance platform before. All spotlights projected on us, making us become even more nervous. Our hearts throbbed as the music began and the light flashed and swirled in the background. But the response of the audience melted our worries. All the screams and smiles made us want to go on. Then the applause and clap of hands were reassuring! Our effort paid off. It was fortunate that everything ran without a hitch and people liked us. We had a wonderful show! We made it!

Feeling encouraged, I scribble this letter to you because I want you to share the joy of our success, and to know if you meet something bad, don't give up! Grab the opportunity that comes by and you will be a success. Good luck and cheers, my friend!

Best regards,

Chris
